software ranges in price from hundreds to thousands of dollars. Media Flight Plan, including both the textbook and the online simulation, sells at or below the average price of a used textbook. MFP provides university students' access to not only realistic simulations of planning software, but also includes access to professional syndicated data like MRI, SRDS, Nielsen data, (all by permission) and other syndicated sources that only large corporations and agencies can afford. Besides the online software simulation, the text includes eight chapters that cover basics like basic math models involved in media buying/planning, and exercises that cover calculation of audience ratings, media share, reach and frequency, and gross rating points. Case studies are included for actual Fortune 500 clients. All cases require students to interpret and apply professional syndicated data and employ the basic methods for writing marketing driven media plans. Both authors, Dennis Martin and Dale Coons, have professional ad agency experience. Coons is executive vice president in a major agency where he directs research, media planning and client development. He is among the most sought-after experts in the field of advertising research. Martin worked on national brands as a copywriter and creative director and co-authored Strategic Advertising Campaigns, a national best-seller for Advertising Age's publishing division. Earning his Ph.D. at University of Illinois, he achieved national and international recognition as a professor of marketing communications.

“ One of the most vital and original novelists of her generation. ” —Larissa MacFarquhar, The New Yorker From the bestselling author of Americanah and We Should All Be Feminists Fifteen-year-old Kambili and her older brother Jaja lead a privileged life in Enugu, Nigeria. They live in a beautiful house, with a caring family, and attend an exclusive missionary school. They're completely shielded from the troubles of the world. Yet, as Kambili reveals in her tender-voiced account, things are less perfect than they appear. Although her Papa is generous and well respected, he is fanatically religious and tyrannical at home—a home that is silent and suffocating. As the country begins to fall apart under a military coup, Kambili and Jaja are sent to their aunt, a university professor outside the city, where they discover a life beyond the confines of their father ' s authority. Books cram the shelves, curry and nutmeg permeate the air, and their cousins ' laughter rings throughout the house. When they return home, tensions within the family escalate, and Kambili must find the strength to keep her loved ones together. Purple Hibiscus is an exquisite novel about the emotional turmoil of adolescence, the powerful bonds of family, and the bright promise of freedom.

This is an African retelling of Euripides: an unnervingly topical story of a people and a beloved city destroyed by the brutality of war. The play was first performed in Lagos in 2003 under the distinguished director Chuck Mike, and subsequently toured the UK.

A man has lived on his own beside a wild, unforgiving coastline for many years. His companions are the birds, the land and the sea. From a choice made long ago, he keeps himself separate from the world of people and he gains a fierce pleasure from his environment. His solitude is broken by his discovery, one early morning on the flat sands of low tide, of a child washed up on the beach, but still alive. This is a novel of redemption, the story of a man experiencing the world as though for the first time.

Educational Assessment in a Time of Reform provides background information on large-scale examination systems more generally and the South African examination specifically. It traces the reforms in the education system of South Africa since 1994 and provides a description of the advances in modern test theory that could be considered for future standard setting endeavours. At the heart of the book is the debate on whether the current standard of education in Africa is good enough . If not, then how can it be improved? The aim of this book is to provide a point of departure for discussions on standard-setting, quality assurance, equating of examinations and assessment approaches. From this point of departure recommendations for practices in general and the exit-level (Grade 12) examination results in particular can be made. This book is ideal reading for principals, teachers, academics and researchers in the fields of educational assessment, measurement, and evaluation.

#1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER • David Brooks challenges us to rebalance the scales between the focus on external success— “ r é s u m é v i r t u e s ” —and our core principles. NAMED ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR BY THE ECONOMIST With the wisdom, humor, curiosity, and sharp insights that have brought millions of readers to his New York Times column and his previous bestsellers, David Brooks has consistently illuminated our daily lives in surprising and original ways. In The Social Animal, he explored the neuroscience of human connection and how we can flourish together. Now, in The Road to Character, he focuses on the deeper values that should inform our lives. Looking to some of the world ’ s greatest thinkers and inspiring leaders, Brooks explores how, through internal struggle and a sense of their own limitations, they have built a strong inner character. Labor activist Frances Perkins understood the need to suppress parts of herself so that she could be an instrument in a larger cause. Dwight Eisenhower organized his life not around impulsive self-expression but considered self-restraint. Dorothy Day, a devout Catholic convert and champion of the poor, learned as a young woman the vocabulary of simplicity and surrender. Civil rights pioneers A. Philip Randolph and Bayard Rustin learned reticence and the logic of self-discipline, the need to distrust oneself even while waging a noble crusade. Blending psychology, politics, spirituality, and confessional, The Road to Character provides an opportunity for us to rethink our priorities, and strive to build rich inner lives marked by humility and moral depth.

“ Joy, ” David Brooks writes, “ is a byproduct experienced by people who are aiming for something else. But it comes. ” Praise for The Road to Character “ A hyper-readable, lucid, often richly detailed human story. ” —The New York Times Book Review “ This profound and eloquent book is written with moral urgency and philosophical elegance. ” —Andrew Solomon, author of Far from the Tree and The Noonday Demon “ A powerful, haunting book that works its way beneath your skin. ” —The Guardian “ Original and eye-opening . . . Brooks is a normative version of Malcolm Gladwell, culling from a wide array of scientists and thinkers to weave an idea bigger than the sum of its parts. ” —USA Today
